What To Expect

Come learn, grow and share on how to take your activity documentation to the next level. We will blend person centered care with federal and state regulations to bring a light on the activity and recreation departments in communities. The focus of this workshop will be upping our game in documentation, and learning or re-understanding not only the “why” we document, but also to see how much our documentation, and what we do on a daily basis, positively impacts the entire community, including those who live and work in the community. Topics will include assessments, care planning, comprehensive and purposeful progress notes. Come and enjoy a day with your fellow professionals, and remember you are so much more, than “just activities”.
